A Veritable Eden and Second to None

Energetic Citizen Describes Wainwright in Enthusiastic Manner -- District Could Guarantee Supplies for the Whole Canadian People--Glowing Words for Grand Trunk Pacific--Progress Depends on Spirit of Citizens

To the Editor of the "Wainwright Star":
In your issue of the 12th inst., you were good enough to find space for some rambling remarks on the "Social" life of this delightful town. In that communication, reference was made, quite incidentally, but with all sincerity, to the day when Wainwright shall become the "Metropolis of the West," and this observation has afforded the cynic and pessimist a topic for criticism. But, Sir, why should not Wainwright attain this proud position? If the prediction be fulfilled by events, the responsibility will not rest with Providence; for, to use the language of the Book of Incomparable Descriptions, it has placed us in a "good land and a large, a land flowing with milk and honey," and the writer can well conceive that Providence will be disappointed, if we fail to make the most of such a glorious heritage.

Are we not literally surrounded by thousands of acres of rich, heavy virgin soil, which, could it, attracted to the city, would be pleased to see you; thought you were never coming; welcome to the very best I can yield."

Is not the entire district, for at least seven months in the year, a veritable "Eden," second to none in the Dominion? And if all the wheat-growing land were under cultivation, could not the Wainwright area, guarantee supplies of bread for every soul, from Prince Rupert to St. Johns?

Is it quixotic to conjecture, that mineral resources, may yet prove invaluable auxiliaries in the realization of our hopes?

Again, if Wainwright does not fulfil our anticipations, the responsibility will not attach to the Grand Trunk Railway Company. The mind that conceived a Transcontinental Railway, was indeed a master mind. To construct railroads through settled districts, with the certain knowledge that form its inception, the line will prove profit-bearing, is an easy business proposition, but to cover thousands of miles, of practically uninhabited territory, penetrating areas hitherto untroubled by the foot of man, amounting all kinds of difficulties, is heroic--and to the translators of the Utopian dream of six years ago, into the region of present day fact, posterity will assign a very high place, among the real benefactors of our race.

Your correspondent suggests, that the attainment of the goal, is now very largely dependent, upon the public spirit, enterprise, self-sacrifice, and resourcefulness of the present population. We have already the nucleus of a small town, or a large, busy city. Which shall it be?

It will be generally conceded, that for rapid expansion, there must be considerable acquisitions to the present population, and at the risk of being thought presumptuous, the writer submits a practical suggestion. Readers acquainted with the conditions prevailing in the "Old Country," will acquiesce in the view, that there can be no district comparable to Wainwright, to command the interest of the small investor, the man with say 2500 dollars; but what has been done to attract his notice? His conception of Canada, is that for which the liberal of the early explorers, and the colonists of the "Old Country," are responsible. True, the capable representatives of the Canadian Government in London, and the shipping agencies, by literature and lectures, endeavor to dissipate these delusions, but the "small investor," associated "red tape" with the former, and the idea of hiding it for a living, with the latter, (a great injustice, of course) and he assumes that while Canada may be a paradise for the agricultural laborer, insured by years of hard toil and poor pay, to survive the rigors of any climate, for him, Canada has nothing to offer.

The only appeal, calculated to catch the ear of the small investor, is the direct, personal appeal. If the superb advantages of the Wainwright District, as affecting people of this class, were narrated in an attractive manner, in letter form, signed by the Mayor, and inserted at small cost, in the leading papers of six agricultural counties in England, the writer is convinced, that not only would our highest hopes for the future of Wainwright, be speedily realized, but a signal service would be rendered to a large class in the "Old Country," who would become most valuable allies, and loyal citizens.

Methodist Good Entertainers

The Maiden Public Debate Proves Interesting to Large Audience--Solos and Selections Greatly Appreciated--Ex-Coun. Graham as Auctioneer.

On Monday night last, a very pleasant evening was spent at the Auditorium, when the Trustees Board of the Grace Methodist Church gave a most enjoyable box social, concert and debate.

The programme started at 8.30 with a few selections from the Orchestra, followed by a solo from Mrs. Armstrong of Irma, which was much enjoyed.

The debate, on the resolution, "Resolved that Asiatics should be excluded from Canada" was a very enjoyable affair and brought forth good applause from those present. The affirmative side was led by Principal McLean, who expounded on Asia being the place for Asiatics, where they should live and practice their customs and habits. His arguments were clear and clean cut and being the popular side of the question, took well with the audience. Rev. Mr. Philips then followed, in support of the opposing side. Mr. Philips spoke with great force and eloquence and brought out point after point. Mr. Craighead, the second disciple, in support of the resolution aired his views, on why the foreigner should be excluded from our land. This was Mr. C's highest first attempt at public speaking and he acquitted himself well.

The argument for the opposing side was closed by N. E. Cook.

The judges for the evening were: J. H. Dawson, W. E. Washburn and H. Crampton. After the findings of the judges were checked up it was found that the negative had won, 14-8.

Several solos followed the debate by Mrs. C. G. Fieldhouse, Mrs. Philips and Miss Winnileed, all of which were much appreciated.

After the programme had been carried out, Auctioneer Graham began with the disposal of the boxes. Bidding was sharp and exciting and after the proceeds were counted, it was found that the receipts for the evening were over $71.00.

Struck with Possibilities of Wainwright

Mr. J. Deeringer, Late of Chicago Greatly Impressed by Wainwright and Its District--May Open Real Estate Office Here--Is Inspecting for Brother.

From reports, in and about town, there is liable to be a new realty company established in Wainwright.

On Sunday last, following a tour of inspection over several portions of the Canadian West, Mr. J. Deeringer, of Chicago arrived in town. Mr. Deeringer was formerly a prominent real estate agent in Chicago and his impressions of this town and district could be well relied upon. As a matter of fact he is so favorably impressed with Wainwright that he is thinking seriously of opening a real estate agency here.

The visit of Mr. Deeringer is a two fold one. In addition to investigating for his own interests, he is here to advise his brother, M. A. Deeringer, of Perry, Iowa, as to the conditions of the soil, previous to settlement by him in the spring. The latter Mr. Deeringer was formerly in the hotel business and has been very successful but hearing of the opportunities offered here, has decided to look the situation over, in view of locating.

Public Await Developments

Hall Section of Land Recently Purchased from H. Limpert and McConnell will Probably be Sub-Divided and Placed on Market.

In the matter of the half section of land, recently purchased by a Calgary syndicate south of the G. T. P. yards here, nothing definite has developed as yet. It is not known whether the company intend sub-dividing the property or not but it is generally conceded that such will eventually follow, with the result that the lots will be placed on the market.

The property is immediately south of the local tracks and it is understood on good authority that the Grand Trunk Pacific intend, in the immediate future to enlarge their yards at this point and put in several sidings east of the depot.

What will then be done for a crossing is not known, as the railway company, on former occasions, have refused crossings to land situated as this.

However, in the event of the town growing appreciably, and warranting extension to this quarter of the townsite, and the possible necessity of additional crossings, such will then be a point for the railway Commission to decide.

New Enterprise for Wainwright

New Fire Bell Will Probably be Procured for Town, on Recommendation of Chairman Musson--International Securities Co., Intend Making Donation of Block of Land for School Purposes--Creamery May be Established.

The regular meeting of the town council was held last Tuesday evening in Washburn & Mill's hall. Several of the members of the council being absent, and because of the presence of Messrs. Prevey and Thompson of Edmonton, who contemplate the establishment of a creamery here, the session of the council was a short one.

Chairman Musson of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, reported concerning the new fire bell. Coun. Musson stated that he had obtained a price on a fire bell but as only one quotation had been received, the matter was left over for fuller report. However, Coun. Musson recommended that a bell thirty six inches in diameter be procured and estimated that such would cost in the vicinity of $135 and would weigh 900 pounds complete.

Coun. Crawford reported that the International Securities Co. of Winnipeg, who are now advertising Wainwright extensively, had made an offer to donate to the town, a block of land in legal subdivision of the school property.

The received favorable comment from the councillors and Coun. Crawford was instructed to write the International Securities Co. that the council would accept the offer. The report of the Property Comm. re lease of Fire Hall was left over until further particulars were secured.

After the council had adjourned, the members of the Council and the executive of the Board of Trade were interviewed by Messrs. Prevey & Thompson of the Edmonton Creamery Co., in regard to opening up a creamery or gathering station at this point. Explanations concerning their methods of doing business and their intentions, should they decide to open here. The creamery company has been very successful in Edmonton and has given entire satisfaction to the farmer and all concerned and it would appear that in consideration of the scheme, a creamery operated here by this company would be a most desirable enterprise for Wainwright.

Among the statements made by Mr. Prevey, the most important was that which showed returns to their patrons, during the past year. These returns showed that a net price of 28 cents was obtained clear of expenses. This was considered a good showing by the council and it was their opinion that such would appeal to the farmers of the district.

Mr. Thompson, before returning to Edmonton, purposes visiting the creamery of the district and determining the approximate quantity of cream and butter, that could be obtained, throughout the year.

In connection with the gathering of cream and sending it to Edmonton, there were several discussions by different members of the council, stating that if Wainwright could not secure the industry itself, they might as well discourage the gathering of cream and butter and the final shipments to Edmonton for distribution and marketing.

Two More Moose For Buffalo Park

After having been carried against their will for hundreds of miles, at times on sleds or cars, two large moose arrived yesterday for the Wainwright Buffalo Park. The moose have had a long and weary experience since their capture, in the Peace River country, sometime ago. Arriving in Edmonton, they were placed in the Livery stables there, awaiting their shipment here. In all there are now nine moose at the local park.

Canada Will Have Rush of Settlers

Latest reports from London state that all steamer berths on the C. P. R., Allan Line and C. N. R. boats, sailing for Canada during March are already full up. Such indications point boldly to the fact that the rush to Canada in the spring will eclipse all previous records. The passengers who have booked passage are all of a superior class of settlers and represent the best of emigrants.

Enormous Co. For Western Lands

LONDON, January--The result of the recent visit in the Canadian west of Lord Hindlip and John Davis, the well-known Convent Garden potato merchant, and ex-mayor of Westminster, was seen today in the prospectus of the Canadian Wheat lands Limited, capital £250,000 were offered at par through Caplin, Milne, Grenfell and company. The company was formed to buy 40,000 acres from the Southern Alberta Land company, who guaranteed five per cent dividend for two years.

The Dennis firm is among the most successful cultivators here. They have a farm of 7,000 acres at Lincolnshire. They mean to apply similar principles to Western wheat production.

A Truly Bashful One.

A bashful young man was invited to dine. He was very much agitated. He sat opposite a mirror and discovered that he had forgotten to comb his hair. Then he dropped his fork on the floor and as he stooped to pick it up, he upset his coffee. Matters went on from bad to worse, until finally the young man quit eating and put his hands under the table. The loose end of the tablecloth was lying in his lap. When he touched it he turned pale. He thought it was his shirt, and that he had forgotten to put the garment in his trousers. That accounted for his further embarrassment. He hurriedly tucked the supposed shirt in his trousers.

Afterwards, when the family arose from the table, there was a crash. The dishes lay in a broken mass on the floor. The young man pulled three feet of the table cloth out of his pants and flew to the woods.

No More Low Neck Dresses

Latest reports from London have it that Queen Mary has decided upon a crusade against the low necked evening dresses and that she has the full support of King George who differs very considerably from his father, in this respect. The present king considers it, indeed an exposure, so does the Queen.

Court ladies, during the reign of the last two sovereigns have been accustomed to wear their dresses as low as possible, but Queen Mary whose neck is rather square, though this has nothing to do with it, has a great dislike for this fashion and she has made it clear to the members of her household that if a dress is put at the neck, it should be as little as possible. At the present time, the edicts of the court make it compulsory for low necked dresses to be worn on all full dress occasions, but this now promises to be done away with, at the crusade started by the Queen.

General Tie-up on the Lines

Almost a complete tie-up is now in progress on the Grand Trunk Pacific and other roads in Alberta and Saskatchewan, on account of the heavy snow storms, experienced this week. All incoming trains into Wainwright for the past few days have been late, the westbound being several hours behind time, over eight hours behind time.

Buy 30-H.P. Motor Car.

While in Edmonton this week, Mr. H. Y. Fieldhouse and Coun. T. G. Cook purchased a 30 Horse Power Ray Automobile from John I. Mills, who has the agency there, for Roy cars.

A representative of the same company is in town at the present time, and is endeavoring to secure more orders for the coming season. Several local men have been considering the purchase of machines for some time past and with those already ordered, automobiles during the coming summer should form many attractions.

For Cleaning Days

The best method of cleaning a mirror, whether new or antique, is that of rubbing it in the first instance with a sponge saturated with methylated spirits, and then sprinkling the surface of the glass with powdered indigo. If this is left for a few moments and then dusted off with a clean leather, a good polish should be obtained.

Reviving Black Lace

Make a fine black ink about the consistency of cream by mixing and straining it. Pour the liquid into a basin so that the lace will be completely covered, and let it stand for ten or twelve hours. Squeeze the lace several times in the liquid so that the texture of old lace will not permit of it.

Dip the lace three or four times in the tannin. After this press the fabric through a wet solution of gum arabic and water.

Pin the lace to a cardboard and endeavor to adhere to the shape that you wish it to take.

When nearly dry cover it with another towel and iron it with cool iron. After this wash it in dilute alcohol.

side. Any clear, dark stone may be used instead with the baroque pearls, and the design may be made of rubies, buncies or sapphires, for instance.

Here are two original ideas for cuff buttons. One is in an arts and crafts effect and the other is a primitive brasswork in dull gold. With the roughly drawn wheel in green gold and the space between the spokes hammered in little pin marks, the wheel is purposely irregular in outline.

The other cuff button is a plain square of dull gold, the special feature being a working out of the wheel's initial in gems. A. B. C., for instance, might be amethyst, beryl and chrysolite. To give an idea of the possible stones, a partial alphabet of gems is given:

D, diamond; E, emerald; C, carnelian; H, hyacinth; J, jasper; L, lapis lazuli; M, moonstone; O, opal; P, pearl; R, ruby; S, sapphire; T, turquoise. Poor letters not given, there is no well-known equivalent.

The chain is an idea for utilizing a baby chain of coral, to every coral bead a pearl, a diamond, a hyacinth, and in front was placed a coral cameo. The effect was really charming.

These are only a few suggestions, but they will be improved upon and modified by the woman who wishes to have her ornaments as original and self-planned as is her clothing.

Method of Knotting for Fringe and Drapery - Whisk Holder of Raffia and Cord - Shopping Bag of Knotted Cord

IT IS surprising what a host of pretty and useful articles can come from the application of ingenious fingers to a goodly supply of stout cords and raffa. Merely knotting and binding, with a little crochet stitch, will produce any number of household conveniences.

Take the shopping bag shown in the photograph. This is nothing but colored cord, the thickness of a shoe string, double-knotted in diagonal rows. The work is done with a large needle and the stitch is something like the one used in resinsaw work. One end of the knot may simply be doubled by the fingers, working over a pencil held as purses and then withdrawn. The deep fringe is merely the cord raveled all its length. The drawing is also of cord. These bags may be made as large or as small as desired, and may serve every purpose from coin purse to laundry bag. When skill has been gained by experience two colors may be so combined as to form a check or plaid effect.

Raffia appears in the whisk holder in the whisk holder, nothing but raveled raffia. Its handle is of crocheted cord, giving the appearance of a buttonhole edge. This same stitch may be used to repeat the rings at the end of the cord, attaching the cord to the shade and working over brass ring. The handle of the holder is of thinner cord of two colors, knotted in the old-fashioned "apple" style. The rings were knitted; and the loops at each end are of thin rope or of twisted raffia. The holder itself is simply a raffia ring, the raffia being run over cardboard like a napkin ring.

How fringe for upholstery may be made is shown in the knotted drapery photograph. The pencil is again used, and the knotting is made over it before it is removed. This time the knots are single ones, giving a hammock effect. Indeed, this is the hammock weave and made by the appliqué method. The edge is only half-railed; and the top loops are gained by the wooden

The raffia caning shown illustrates how the same weave may be applied to wicker cane as well as to mend and repair seat chairs. The stitch—for it is done with a large-headed needle—is almost identical to the stitching that is usually done horizontally, then in the two diagonal directions. The binding is done separately, with a knot at each intersection with the weaving raffia. The same caning may be used or may be made on this same general principle. The crocheted cord makes picture frames and penwiper; the knotted cord, children's horse riders; the pen can be used for the thumb holders; the raffia, penwipers and blotter tops and chains for holding books.

THE LATEST SOARE.

The latest military scare in London England, is "Did Napoleon visit London?" Napoleon, whose military feats, whose law-making, whose religion and whose private life have been the subject of many monographs, is supposed to have visited London incognito, whereas every nation in Europe, from the Urals to the Pillars of Hercules from Dublin to Cairo, had motives for watching him from a special point of view, and the libraries of Europe are encumbered with a mass of printed matter concerning him that would suffice to embitter the life of the most voracious reader.

During the last week or two, however, no less a person than the Right Hon. John Burns, greatly daring, has put forward a suggestion that an ancient rumor long ago dismissed as unthinkable, may after all represent the truth. On the subject of such a pilgrimage by the little corporal, stock historians such as Carlyle, Thiers and Ranke are dumb. The writers of memoirs such as Savary, Remusat, Marmont and Las Cases give the same result. Napoleon was garrulous rather than taciturn during his later years, and yet even at St. Helena, where there was no further motive for concealment, he never let drop the slightest hint that he had ever seen London. And still, although no shadow of a suggestion exists that this great warrior ever visited the metropolis of Great Britain, the British museum librarians "turned upside down" from top to bottom the whole of the library, and as yet have not found the slightest hint as to the mere possibility of such an event.

HE KNEW HIS BUSINESS.

A good story of the "borrowing habit" comes from abroad. A lady who had gone to live in Shanghai was compelled soon after her arrival to entertain some important business friends of her husband. Her finest china, glass and so forth had not yet arrived from England. Nevertheless she determined to give a dinner, and called in her "No. 1 boy." "Now, boy," she said impressively, "I entertain three gentlemen. You make it best possible. Must be nice everything." Bowing and scraping, he went off to inform the other seven servants. The next evening as she ushered her guests into the dining room she gasped in amazement. Before her was a table spread with the most exquisite linen, cut glass, silver and delicate china. Over it all hung a gorgeous cut-glass chandelier. Course after course was served as if by magic. The instant she could leave her guests she sought her "No. 1 boy." "Boy boy," she exclaimed, "where you get such beautiful things?" The boy beamed with satisfaction. "Everything very nice, best possible! Me very good friend Russian ambassador's No. 1 boy, Russian ambassador go out to dinner. Me borrow. Very nice very nice!"

A SIGN FROM THE G.T.P.

Indications point at the present time to a larger development of the local yards by the Grand Trunk Pacific. During the past, the yard space has been ample, but increased trade in the town and along the line, it is now found necessary to increase the yard space. Up until the present time there has been upwards of five miles of running track in the yards.

but from reports, it is now the intention of the company to enlarge and by the end of the coming year to have fourteen or fifteen miles of track, in sidings.

Industrial sidings, west of the station are also found insufficient and the result of this will probably mean that new sidings for these purposes will be built east of the depot.

All these indications must surely speak well for the town, in the estimation of the Grand Trunk Pacific and if they have faith in the town, there is small reason for anyone to complain or be skeptical, concerning the prospects of our little railway town.

The hockey game between Edmonton and Wainwright, which was scheduled to take place here last Friday was postponed on account of the west-bound express being late. Arrangements are now being made for the game to be played next week.

Councillors W. E. Mills and T. G. Cook were passengers to Edmonton last week to attend the encampment, in connection with the I. O. O. F.

H. G. Morison went to Tofield last Thursday to act as judge of play, at the hockey game there, between Tofield and Viking.

Mr. H. McLeod, local G. T. P. operator went to Estevan last week to install the train dispatcher's office at that point. He returned home on Sunday.

Two weeks ago, notices of lapsed subscriptions were sent to tardy subscribers. Next week, the Star will be discontinued among those in arrears.

The friends of Mr. H. Gough will regret to learn of his illness at his home, from scarlet fever. The house is quarantined, although the patient is not pronounced to be in a serious condition.

"Why," said P. E. Ross, at Edmonton, "it would liberally repay the Edmonton Board of Trade if they would pay our railway fare to the city, in return to the many things we buy while here. Since my arrival in the city, see what I have bought; alone, no less than a pair of rubbers and half a pound of good tobacco."

Following the receipt of a letter from A. E. Mills, of the Wainwright Realty Co., comes the announcement that Wainwright, during the year, is bound to show greater signs of progress. "The prospect for 1911 is exceptionally bright," said Mr. Mills, "and wherever we have gone, we have found scores interested in Wainwright and its future."

He has recently interested a number of good settlers in farm lands, who had heard of the superior features, offered by Wainwright and her district.

The inquest in connection with the death of William J. Smith, the deaf mute, who was killed at Butte on January 15th, was resumed last Thursday afternoon, at the office of Coroner Watson. The final verdict arrived at by the jury was that the accident was due to the fact that the victim was deaf and dumb and also on account of his own negligence. The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Co. and its employees were exonerated from all blame.

Mr. H. V. Fieldhouse went to Edmonton last Thursday to visit friends for a few days.

Bidding in the cake basket market, at the Auditorium, on Monday evening was strong. Before the market closed, Mr. N. R. Dingman had cornered the market.

Mr. John Alexander returned from Edmonton last week, in company with his wife, who has been at Edmonton hospital for the past two weeks. Mrs. Alexander was successfully operated upon for appendicitis.

The marriage took place on Tuesday morning at the Presbyterian Manse, by Rev. Mr. Russell of Mr. Hugh Semple and Miss Hilda Barrigard, both of Chauvin. The couple left in the afternoon for their future home in Chauvin.

The morning service at St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, next Sunday, will be in charge of Rev. Mr. Fortune, Agent for Moral and Social Reform for Alberta. The evening service will be conducted by the pastor, Mr. Russell, the subject of text being, "An Ideal Congregation."

Last Monday evening, the Odd Fellows appointed several additional committees to make final arrangements for the annual At Home, given by the local lodge I. O. O. F. The date of the function will be held February 2nd, 1911. In all probability, Lynch's Orchestra from Edmonton will be engaged to play for the occasion.

The Cookshut Plow Co. have started the erection of a large warehouse on Third Avenue, in the rear of the mounted police barracks. Contractors are rushing the work to completion and it is expected that the building will be finished in the course of a few weeks. Samuel Lowthwaite, late of Edmonton, will be in charge of the local agency and in the immediate future expects a large consignment of implements for the spring business. His announcement appears in this issue, in an advertisement.

Winnipeg Tribune: A lady once wrote to Paderewski a most glowing epistle, and ended up by beseeching him to send her "a lock of hair." Shortly afterwards, to her great surprise, she received the following reply: "Dear Madam—M. Paderewski directs me to say that it affords him much pleasure to comply with your request. You fail to specify whose hair you desire, as he sends samples of that of his wife, Eugene, waiter and hairdresser."

While in conversation with Harry Linpert this week, the Star received another feather for its plume, in the following connection. A steer recently strayed to his premises and he inserted an ad. in the Star last week. The next day after the paper was out, the owner received his animal. "It pays to advertise in your paper," says Harry, "and the ad. cost me nothing."

The most difficult thing about getting into the spot light is getting the other fellow out.

On Saturday afternoon next, poultry meeting, for 1911, will be held in Auditorium, beginning at 2 o'clock. The meetings will be in charge of capable speakers, who will expound on different matters in connection with poultry raising. All are cordially invited to attend.
